Foreword

To make a vivid record of the glory of a greater University, of the pleasures of campus work and play, of the joys of college life itself, has been our aim in compiling this book. May it ever be a living thing, a living record of the glorious days at old U. C.

Dedication

To James N. Gamble we dedicate this book. His enthusiastic interest in University affairs has been shown by the spirit in which he completed the stadium. This memorial to his grandson and our classmate, James Gamble Nippert, will prove an inspiration for all time.

President of the University

THE Cincinnati has become a tradition, and traditions, if of the right sort, are among the valuable assets of a university, giving character and continuity to its life.

While cherishing the traditions that have come down to us from our predecessors, it is well to remember that we too are making traditions. So there rests upon us a special responsibility to see to it that the traditions which we pass on to those who come after us conform to the highest ideals of scholarship and community life.

F. W. CHANDLER, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.
Dean of the College of Liberal Arts

TO students in the College of Arts I would emphasize the importance of what they can acquire from a general education in the training of mind, will, feelings, and taste, and in securing from their study an outline map of the world we live in—social as well as natural. You are all larger than any trade, business, or profession. Of course, you wish to know what is essential for the performance of your particular task in life. But in order to understand those fundamentals upon which every such task depends, and to learn how to make the most of your leisure and your relations to others outside of business, you must seek liberal training. Its aim is to aid you to become rounded citizens, equipped for work and for play, able to judge, to appreciate, to do, fortified to withstand what Milton called "the winds of doctrine," and all the follies of the moment, acquainted with some part of the best that the race has thought, enjoyed, and done in the past, and courageous to face the present and the future, eager to solve new problems in the light of old experience. The College of Arts of the University of Cincinnati endeavors to help you gain such an education.

Frank W. Chandler

H. SCHNEIDER, B. S., Sc. D.
Dean of the College of Engineering.

The leader emerges from the mass. There is no known rule of heredity for personality, for intrinsic quality. There is a divine right of leadership, but it does not descend from father to son; it is conferred in utter disregard of wealth, creed, name, condition, or caste—and it is non-transferable. The personality which creates leadership pushes instinctively above the dead level, above mediocrity; and the fight up through the mass is what gives the leader the strength to supplement personality.

Modern industry, like Frankenstein's man, is a powerful machine which lives and grows greater by reason of the injection into its organism of material science. We seem to be at the point of industrial progress where we must control industry or industry will control us. In building industry we aimed to shape it to our needs; we are in danger now of shaping ourselves to its needs. Surely education can perform no greater service to humanity than to seek out men of ability and train them to devise and direct in such a way that the huge material forces shall be our servants rather than our masters; and that the spiritual note shall always ring out above, and as a part of, the song of the anvil.

Dean of the College of Education

A UNIVERSITY is a wondrous thing — working not primarily for profit or any immediately practical goal, but rather, to broaden your horizon, enrich and extend your mental life, and make the life of the spirit attainable to you and, through you, to your future associates. May the spirit of Alma Mater brood o'er you with sheltering wings and lead you into ways of greater usefulness and finally into paths of peace.

L. A. Pechstein

L. T. MORE, B. S., Ph. D
Dean of the Graduate School

THE intrinsic value of a diploma is less than that of a blank piece of paper of the same size.

No use has yet been found for "credits" on record in the office of the Registrar.

The worth of a college education depends entirely on post-graduate work.

Only a minute fraction of post-graduate work is done in the graduate schools of universities; the great proportion is done by individuals.

The fullest possibilities of life are realized only by those who are incessantly studious, thoughtful, and critical. A college fails in its purpose when it does not inspire each of its graduates to found in himself a graduate school, endowed with intellectual curiosity, directed by wise judgment of the relative value of things, and instructed by ambition and determination.

On behalf of the Graduate School of the University of Cincinnati I extend greetings to the Class of 1925. May your individual graduate schools prosper. And to those who wish to affiliate with our institution we extend a cordial welcome.

R. C. Gandy
Acting Dean

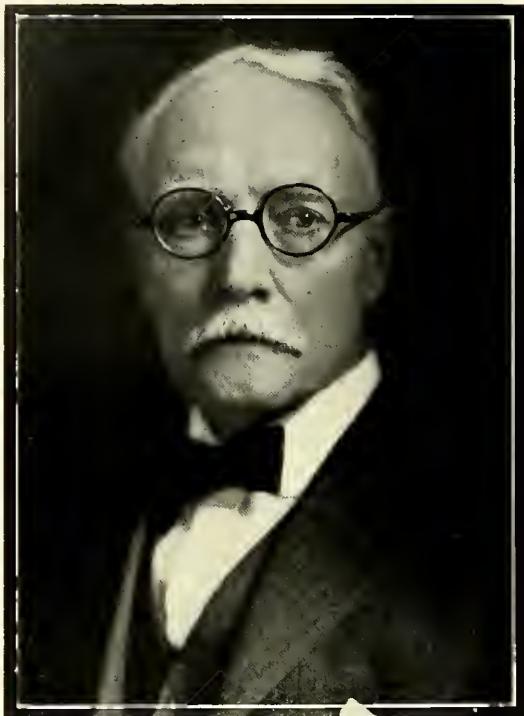

A. C. BACHMEYER, M. D.
Dean of the College of Medicine

THE College of Medicine endeavors to provide its students with a sound, basic knowledge of Medicine and seeks to imbue them with the high ideals of the medical profession. In this day, when "things are in the saddle," it is well to uphold the ideal of "service" and to emphasize the fact that although substitutes for the material things of life are readily procured, nothing can replace the great ideals that have been handed down to us through the ages.

In the words of Daniel Drake, we hope that "you will make science the ground work of your reputation and acts of intelligence, honor and benevolence the material of the superstructure."

A. C. Bachmeyer

R. C. PUGH, L. L. B., L. L. D.
Dean of the College of Law

THE College of Law is engaged in educating young men and women for the practice of the law and, as an essential part of such task, in helping them to become upright, useful citizens and good Americans.

The duties and obligations we owe to the public and to each other have become so complicated under modern conditions that the lawyer, to discharge his functions, needs a training and equipment more thorough and extensive than ever before. The law has always been a learned profession, but learning is more needed today in the practice of it than ever. All law schools recognize this, although perhaps they do not all adequately meet the situation.

The College of Law has raised its standards and improved its methods of teaching from time to time to keep pace with the changes brought about by modern conditions, and it is now in the front rank of law schools in this country. It will continue in the future as in the past to maintain this place. It has behind it an old and honorable tradition and looks forward to a still more honorable place in the years to come.

H. T. SMITH, D. D. S.
Dean of the Ohio College of Dental Surgery

THE Ohio College of Dental Surgery, affiliated Dental Department of the University of Cincinnati, was established in Cincinnati in 1845 and is now the oldest dental school in the world. Its graduates number about three thousand and are among the pioneer practitioners and teachers in every state and country. The four year course of study leads to the degree of D. D. S., with the predental year requirement covering University English, Biology, Physics and Chemistry. The Clinic and Technic Departments occupy at present the former Pulte Medical College Building at Seventh and Mound Streets, the Infirmary treating about one hundred patients daily, with an out-patient service covering the public schools, four hospitals, and ten eleemosnyary institutions. The school is co-educational, having in 1865 conferred the first degree on a woman in dentistry. In 1910 it offered the first course established for Dental Assistants and Nurses.

Dentistry offers unusual opportunities as a vocation. Its close association with Medicine is attracting research students in the common problems of Health Service, particularly in the fields of prevention, surgery, border-line pathology, dental metallurgy, and mechanics.

Henry T. Smith, D.D.S.

JOSEPHINE P. SIMRALL, B. S.
Dean of Women

LIFE on the University campus, with its study time and its play time; with its teamwork and its varied social contacts; with its comradeships and friendships; with its many tasks and opportunities and activities which test the ideals we have shaped for ourselves and the truths by which we live; with also the responsibilities it brings, and the demands it makes that we think clearly and plan wisely and hold fast to our courage in meeting these responsibilities—all of this is wonderful preparation for life. The student who gives his or her best to the University will receive the best that the University has to give, and will go forth well equipped for citizenship in the great world.

Josephine P. Simrall

PHOEBE M. KANDEL, B. S.
Director of the College of Nursing

A Good Soldier of Jesus Christ—II Timothy 2:3.

ONE of the great questions of today is whether university life and training really fit women for taking their share in the supreme conflicts of life.

To succeed in life's battles one must be ever mindful of the richest gifts in their possession, that they may be so used throughout each day, week and year as to bring cheer and confidence to all with whom one comes in contact.

Thomas Guthrie was a university man, and he proved that he meant what he said in his verse:

"I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the heaven that bends above me,
And the good that I can do;
For the wrongs that need resistance,
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do."

Phoebe M. Kandl

O Mores!

In an age when everything and every idea is more or less institutionalized, the Faculty of the University of Cincinnati proves no laggard. If to be a good fellow is the aspiration of the twentieth century man or woman, the faculty man or faculty woman in Cincinnati must turn into line with fervid gusto. Bonne camaraderie is the ideal of the hour. A man's religion is nothing; a man's atheism is as little. That he shall be a good sport is the chief aim of the modern. The faculty man at U. C. is a modern. His flair is fellowship and his genius, mirth. The "youth movement" has got into his bones. (Or, perhaps, it is the Rotarian movement!)

With the mysteries of evolution, the divagations of philosophy, the investigations of social, political and economic conditions; with the pages of history and the illuminations of literature the faculty man has, it would seem, only to do incidentally. What concerns him most is his joie de vivre:

"And this hath now his heart,

And unto this he frames his song."

He knows as much of Keith's Circuit as he knows of Kant's Critique; as much (if not more) of Eugene O'Neill as of William Shakespeare; as much of Abie's Irish Rose as of The Tschaikowsky's Symphonie Pathetique; as much of the French Impressionists as of Rembrant Harmens van Rijn. He is at once baseball fan, artist, dilettante, philosopher, solon, professor and club man. ("With new joy and pride, the little actor cons another part.")

And so his social life has been institutionalized for him and by him. The rounds of bridge and dancing are his as they are those of any modern. Witness his heels as he pirouettes about on the light fantastic. Witness his embarrassment when at a faculty party the wife of one of his colleagues comments, "I don't call that leading your high card in my suit." Witness his ability to rest back easy in his chair and talk of the glories of the Cincinnati Reds, the imponderability of the administration in Washington, the directing of Fritz Reiner or the tragic pains that followed the dinner at the Spickinspans.

He is a modern. No topic has him bluffed. No parlor trick has preserved its mystery for him. He looks into the world and smiles. Dances, dinners, conversation, clubs—all these are his. He is one of us. Lord bless him.

And think, he has all our graces without having to pitch in, take a course at U. C. and learn all over what it is to be so young and a bon-vivant.

Tempus non edax.

Especially non!

Executive Board of Student Council

THE Executive Board of Student Council puts into operation all legislation of Student Council, and it enacts minor legislation when immediate action is necessary, subject to the approval of Student Council. The Board receives and considers petitions and complaints from the Student Body; it also considers recommendations from the Faculty relative to Student affairs. It is hoped that the students and faculty will use the above-mentioned means of co-operation with each other in the future more than they have in the past.

IT has been our privilege for the past few years to witness and help with many of the improvements in our Alma Mater. Since we first entered the halls of Mc-Micken, the Stadium, the Dormitory, the new Law Building, and many other material additions, have grown from dreams to reality. Although these additions are foremost in our minds, we, of the Class of 1925, consider of great significance those more intangible achievements, such as the growth of a better school spirit, improved school morale and a generous spirit of good will on the campus, all of which assist in the development of character in the undergraduates. Our regret in leaving is only overshadowed by our desire to become loyal alumni. We assure the oncoming classes that the class of 1925 shall always be active in any efforts to better our University of Cincinnati as a character building institution.

So for more friendly social intercourse, for the instillation of still more loyalty; for the inception of a closer communion with the faculty do we, the Juniors, strive, imploring each student to join in an honest, sustained effort to promote harmony, usefulness and good fellowship, to the end that we may further the worth-while, constructive program of Varsity of Cincinnati.

THE Sophomore Class is an ambitious one. But our ambition is not for ourselves as individuals, nor is it primarily for the elevation of our class to a position of pre-eminence above all others. Our ambition is for our University.

We, of course, plan to leave this University in the next few years with some sort of degree attached to our names. But in the meantime, we shall all strive, according to our respective abilities, to further the interests of our school in every branch of collegiate activity. We shall continue to seek the further development of the spirit of democratic fellowship, friendship and co-operation among the students and among the colleges of the University. It is on the development of this spirit that we shall center our efforts, for we believe that it is only through the development of such a spirit that the highest possibilities of the University may be realized.

We are young in years as well as in our school careers, so we may be said to be in the stage of promise rather than in that of attainment. We expect to fulfill that promise.

WE have entered the halls of old McMicken with the same reverence as have the classes before us. We have done what little we, in our humble way, were able to do for our school. And during our life here in school we will do as have our seniors done in the preceding years.

Let us hope that we may consecrate the ideals of the old school, that we may continue to strive to keep our University on the high and noble plane where it has stood and been recognized for years. Let us by our own constant individual effort seek to broaden its influence and service to the community which so liberally offers us the opportunity of this higher education, all this let us hope we will do, not as a grudging duty, but as a free heart offering.

WITH the approach of Commencement we are indeed proud and happy that we are to be Doctors of Medicine. We feel that we have chosen and have made an effort to fit ourselves to serve in a profession which has for its prime object the service it can render humanity. In choosing this profession we have assumed an obligation to conduct ourselves in accordance with its ideals.

With these thoughts in view we are now about to take our leave, and departing we wish to render thanks to the City of Cincinnati, to the Patrons of our University and of our Medical College, and to our teachers, whom we have come to respect and to so highly esteem during our years of training here. It is our most sincere wish that we may, in some measure, justify the efforts of these, our benefactors.

THE Dental College, although not located on the campus, is a loyal, active unit in one of the great and forward-looking universities of the world. The senior dental class with its fellowship and college spirit now fades from active participation, and becomes an alumnal group. It is our sincerest wish that we may now render valuable service to others, not primarily for the sake of any pecuniary reward or attractive prominence which it may give us, but that it may satisfy our own consciences, thereby giving us happiness. The happiest man in any profession is the one who feels that he has deserved and has gained the largest measure of gratitude from his fellow men.

We sincerely hope that the University of Cincinnati may have been bettered to some slight degree for our having existed.

If the medical authorities are right in their contention that the child of a parent's old age is generally not only the handsomest, but as well the most aggressive and intelligent of the family, '25 Law should have little to worry about in its chosen profession. As the most recent graduates of a school whose earliest days were spent in preparing students for the bar of Marshall, Story and Lincoln, we occupy a unique position. With the new campus building being prepared for next year's use, the transition between the old Cincinnati College and the Law College of the University of Cincinnati will be complete. We are the last of a century old line. May the old days revive amid better surroundings. BUD HERRON,

THE School of Nursing and Health is a relatively recent addition to the University family. It represents a new development of an old profession. We, as students of the School, respect the past and yet keep our eyes fixed on the future. We look forward to the time when every nurse shall have the liberalizing influence of college education and through it bring to her work added skill, understanding and vision.

Sometimes, like other off-campus groups, we are charged with a lack of University spirit. We are often absent from college functions, but not from want of love or loyalty. However unselfish may be his motives, the chief duty of the average college student is to himself. The student of nursing has a double responsibility. Failure on her part means more than the repetition of a class, it may cost that which is unreplaceable—life.

We hope to so carry the traditions of our profession and of our University that they may be as proud of us as we of them.

THE completion of the offices and dressing room in the James Gamble Nippert Memorial Stadium unquestionably gives this university the best equipped plant for athletics in Ohio. In fact, it is doubtful if there is a college or university in the country that has been so well taken care of. For years to come there will be no over-crowded dressing rooms for outdoor sports. In the near future a cinder track, baseball cage, handball courts and paddle tennis courts will be laid out under the east wing of the stadium. These things will give us play space during the winter.

For outdoor play, the first work on the field back of the gymnasium is being done this spring. As soon as this is ready we shall be able to make a beautiful field in the stadium for exhibition purposes.

The department of athletics is committed to a policy of providing space and instructors for all students. What little money is made each year is being spent at once on permanent improvements for this purpose.

Coach George W. McLaren

NEVER has Cincinnati had a football coach of whom she has been so proud, and justly so, for Dr. George W. McLaren has proved himself, not only to the players but to the student body as a whole. Despite our standing in this year's conference, no one feels that Coach's efforts were ill spent. Beginning the year with a squad of inexperienced men, Coach was able, only through the high standard of his leadership and knowledge of the game, to produce the machine that ground out 8 to 7 on Turkey Day. The players have learned the game and learned it well, but added to this, through their close connection with Coach, have learned what it is to be a true gentleman, for the quality and uprightness of Coach McLaren's character can only be fully appreciated by association with him.

Although the scores of many of the games showed Cincy at the wrong end of the figures, Coach never once lost control of his temper, and at all times had the situation firmly in hand. All of these qualities go to make up one big reason for Cincy's pride in her football record—George W. McLaren. Everyone feels confident that next year will show the result of Coach's efforts in the form of an invincible squad of Bearcats.

McAndrews, Captain '25.

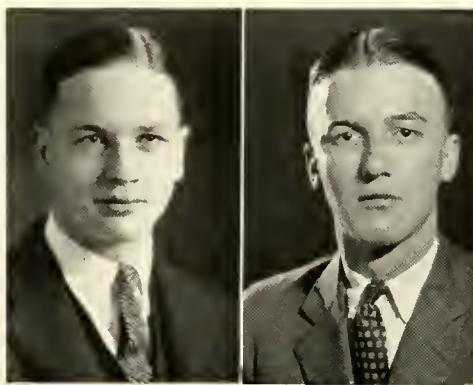

Captain "Mac" will always be remembered for his miraculous run in the Miami game, which netted Varsity a touchdown in the last two minutes of play. He was a most dependable ground gainer, and, although usually a quiet fellow, Mac turned into a wild Irishman when an extra yard was needed to make the first down. His consistency of covering ground is shown in the fact that he gained a total of one hundred and twelve yards in the Oberlin game. Varsity is bound to miss this cool-headed general.

Through hard work, steady plugging and close attention to duty, Johnny has perfected himself into an exceptional football player. He is built for a center, made for a captain and destined to be a member of the All-Ohio team next year. His loyalty and conscientiousness have played large parts in making him the mainstay of the team, and one of the most popular men on the field. We predict a most co-operative team under his leadership.

Pease, Captain '26.

Football Review

AS usual, the first football game of the season was merely a tryout of substitutes. The Bearcats did exceedingly well, however, and, although the yards gained by them were over five times that of Kentucky Wesleyan, the score showed only a tie of six all. The other of the two night games was played against Georgetown and was much better played, the result never being in doubt after the first half of the contest. A large number of injuries and finally defeat were the outcome of the invasion into the Western Conference, but the team fought valiantly against the odds and its spirit, and that of the 250 rooters who followed to Evanston, could not be crushed by the onslaught of the Northwestern machine.

The Bearcats were still suffering from the Northwestern conflict when they tried to break the Denison jinx; at Ada also five subs were to be found in the lineup, but the patched up squad did better than had been expected and the Ohio Northern University team failed to show a marked superiority over Cincy, despite the score. The Cincinnatians outplayed the University of Dayton in the first half, making ten first downs to Dayton's one, but they all seemed to be scalped after the Indian entered into the fray in the second half. Then came Dedication Day, with a strong Oberlin team, a finished stadium and ideal weather conditions, but with a Bearcat team still badly handicapped by the injuries to her veterans. Bradner and Captain McAndrews starred with their long runs, but the forward passing of the Oberlin team was too much for Varsity, it being responsible for the two touchdowns made.

In the fourth conference game of the season with Wooster, at Wooster, the Red and Black team was simply outclassed. In contrast with the weakness of the Bearcats, Wooster displayed the strongest attack of the season. (But, "All's well that ends well.")

After three-quarters of the Miami Game without a score, and after a story of hard fought battles between two teams apparently matched, let us be thankful for a safety by Hallerman, and then a touchdown by Captain McAndrews. Hallerman played a most brilliant game and deserves a lot of credit for turning the tide the right way, but still more renown should be bestowed on the Irishman who made the touchdown in the last two minutes of play. 'Twas an historic day.

Basket Ball

If ever any team suffered hard luck, it was this year's Basket Ball team; for the bad fortunes did not stop with the injury of some of its players due to football. The consequent changes in position, causing irregular lineups, rather broke down the morale and confidence of the various members. When the team was again on its feet, the season was over and hope for the promised championship abandoned.

However, the team played time after time to hosts of sympathetic fans who hoped that their faith would be finally rewarded by a glorious victory over Miami. Fate would have it different, however, and after two of the most thrilling and exciting games ever witnessed in Ohio, Miami came out ahead in both contests. Nevertheless, during the week between the two games with the Oxford crew, Cincy went to Tiffin and beat Heidelberg and thus saved Varsity from having a zero for its conference standing.

Much was expected of this year's team after their wonderful showing the year before, but still more is expected next year for practically the same team is eligible again. There is reason to believe that these expectations will be fulfilled, for there was a decided improvement in the playing towards the end of the season.

Coach Chambers

Valentiner, Capt. '25.

Clarkie was extremely useful under the basket, for he consistently stopped the scoring of the opposing fives. He is one of the most loyal athletes in school and certainly deserved the captaincy of the team this year. The strength which he added to the team work of the squad was well shown when he was forced out of the game for personal fouls or some other reason. He has another year to offer his abilities to the school and much is expected of him.

Klein, Capt. '26.

Nippert, Mgr. '25.

Smith, Mgr. '26.

Steady and cool in every game. Wes's sportsmanship and pleasant way make him a favorite with the players and with the rooters. He is game to the core and his playing has developed miraculously in the last year. One more year of coaching and All-Ohio will probably claim him.

Schmid

Maddux

Bob has the grace, form and skill for a real basket ball tosser, but his bulk hinders him as to speed. However, he did well in keeping up the morale of the team, for he was always cool and collected, seldom excited.

"Handsome Eth" got the tip-off every time until he was put on probation for not tripping off the fantastic toe properly. The sad day came when he flunked in folk dancing. Next year his playing should be a big factor in getting the postponed championship.

Allen

Bradner

Runt practiced diligently and substituted for three hard years, and it will seem a strange day when the squad assembles without him. He was right there with the goods when he was wanted, for he had the ability to step right in and play good ball when the occasion demanded.

Mehl

Sicking

Vic is the most modest player on the squad and one of the finest as to character and basket ball ability. He was responsible for much of the scoring when he was in the game and his playing at center is to be commended.

Track

THE Bearcat Relay Team, which was sent to Columbus to take part in the Ohio Relays, failed to score; but in the Triangular Meet, Cincy finished third, Cincinnati Gym winning first place, and the Y. M. C. A. coming in second. In the latter meet three Varsity records were broken; one by Yarwood and two by members of the Gym Team. However, the Denison Meet was closely contested throughout, and the relay was the deciding factor that made the Granville boys come out on the long side with a score of $68\frac{1}{2}$ to $62\frac{1}{2}$.

Despite the drizzling rain and the soggy track, the Bearcats defeated the Ohio University squad by a score of $94\frac{1}{2}$ to $36\frac{1}{2}$. There were no spectacular events due to the weather; but Brilmayer, Price and Hessler starred for Varsity.

Last year's defeat at Georgetown seemed to work as an incentive to the Bearcats in their next meet with the Georgetown squad, for they chalked up a score of 87 points against the Southern boys.

Displaying marked superiority in eight events, and taking first place in four others, the Miami team decisively defeated the Red and Black runners 85 to 46 in their annual contest. The weather was very unfavorable, a steady rain falling all afternoon; but Miami was not to be outdone, for she seemed perfectly at home in the mud, and won eleven events out of fifteen.

With Captain Price heading a long sick list, the Bearcats did very little in the Big Six Meet, at Granville. Varsity placed a fourth in the two-mile, and a fifth in the half-mile.

The entire season, never-the-less, was an improvement over last year's; and with the loss of only two men, and with Coach McLaren's style of coaching well established, prospects look fine for a very successful season in '25.

Baseball

BY defeating a crack local team, the Siebler Tailors, the baseball team got away with a flying start; but in the next game with the Butler College they were not so fortunate, and the game ended in Butler's favor. On a southern trip they broke even, winning from the University of Louisville and losing to Kentucky State. Unable to get going against the Michigan Wolverines, the Bearcats lost 9-8 after nine hectic innings.

Cincy opened the Ohio Conference season by overwhelming the Wittenberg nine, but they were taken by surprise in their second game with the University of Louisville after having won the first game so easily. Two games with Ohio University had to be cancelled on account of rain; and in the next game Varsity was beaten by their ancient rivals—Miami.

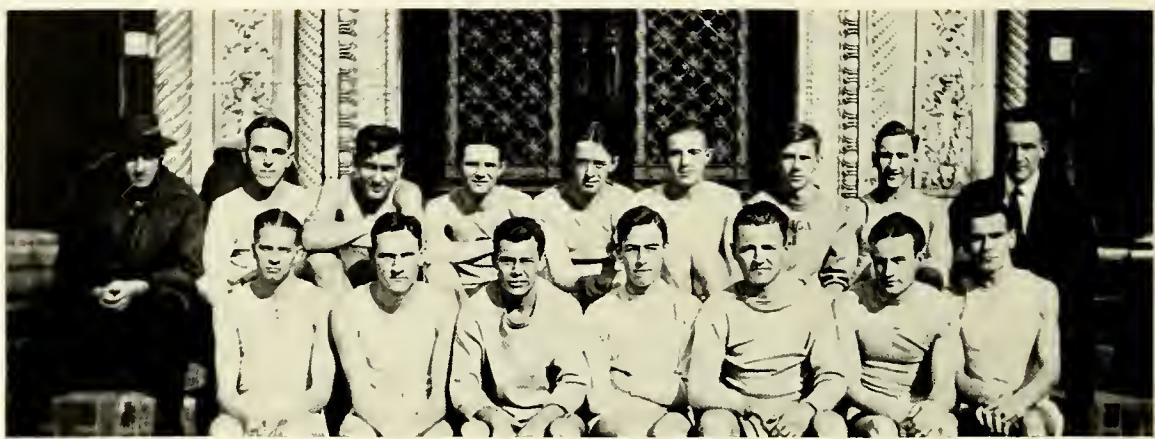

Determined to break their losing streak, the Bearcats walloped the Oberlin team and then set Ohio Northern down 6-1, but a trip to Indianapolis proved disastrous. One of the most interesting games this season was that with Meiji University. The little Japs played real ball, but the Bearcats beat them 7-6.

On Decoration Day the team traveled to Oxford and evened scores with Miami. The only ten-inning game of the season was played against the University of Dayton, but Cincy came out ahead of a 7-5 score. On June the seventh, the former U. C. stars attempted to shine once more, but were put out 5-4.

Although they put up a valiant fight, the Bearcats were beaten in their last game with Ohio State University. Considering the fact that the team was handicapped by the loss of their captain and by the lack of experienced pitchers, they deserve a great deal of praise for ranking second in the Ohio Conference.

Cross Country

THE Varsity Cross Country Team had a highly successful season considering that it started with only two letter men left from last year. On October 25, led by Captain George Hilker and Carl Abaecherli, who finished second and fourth, respectively, the team defeated the strong Y. M. C. A. combination by a score of 24—40. (In the scoring system used, the winning score is the smaller one.)

On November 1, following the excellent example set by Captain Hilker, who finished first, the team defeated the Denison quintet 16—22. Abaecherli finished fourth with Wilson, Vandermark and Dunkman following him in the order named.

Cincy's team distinguished itself again when it finished third in an exciting race staged by the Big Six, at Delaware, on November 8. Hilker, who was the first Varsity runner to finish, came in third, only losing second place in the stretch. Wilson was the next Cincy man to finish.

The team wound up an excellent season when they journeyed to Oxford and decisively defeated the runners of Miami. The score was 22 to 23. Incidentally, this is the seventh consecutive year that U. C. has triumphed over their Oxford rivals in cross-country.

A record of three victories and no defeats in dual meets, and third place in the Big Six is certainly something to be proud of, and with most of the team under-classmen, an equal, if not better, record is expected next year.

Soccer

THIS year soccer seemed to be revived at Varsity again when a program of games was made out in which the Bearcat kickers were to play some of the crack local soccer teams. Every team in the Saturday league, with the exception of the Madeira A. C., was composed of men much older and experienced than those of the Varsity eleven. For this reason the Red and Black team deserve much praise for the good showing they made in almost all of the games.

On November 22, the Bearcats emerged victorious in a game with the Madeira A. C. by a score of 2—0; and, although this was the only victory of the eight games played, the interest this year greatly surpasses that of previous years.

If this spirit continues to grow at its present rate of development, it will not be long until it will hold a position similar to that which it holds in eastern colleges. At any rate the soccer team should receive letters next year.

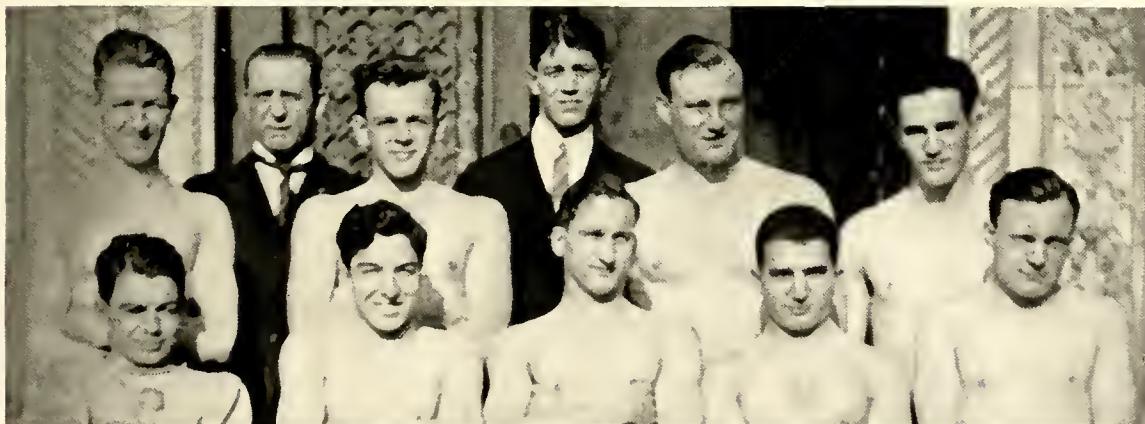

McLaren, Coach, Ritterholz, Sauer, Dieckman, Hymans,
Scarborough, Zachariassen, Harwood, Yates, Dolwebber.

Swimming

FOUR Varsity records were broken in the first meet of the season when the Bearcat fish showed the results of their patient training. Altho they were defeated by the Indiana A. C., 40—28, they would not have lost their meet so easily had not Dolweber and Fennekohl collided in one of the races. But Dol showed his ability in the 100-yard swim by lowering the Varsity time for that event. The relay team swam four seconds faster than any other quartet has done at the U. C. aquarium.

On March 28th, in the Amateur Athletic Union meet, at the North Cincinnati Gym, the Varsity mermen also made a good showing. The relay team finished second, beaten only by the world champion relay team of the Y. M. C. A. Fennekohl came first in the 220-yard swim, and as a result, became the junior champion of the Ohio Division of the A. A. U. in that event. Dolweber placed second in the same event, while Gally made second in the 150-yard backstroke.

The next meet, which is a return engagement with the Indianapolis A. C., at Indianapolis, will probably be the last one of the season. Coach McLaren tried to promote a swimming league among the Ohio Conference colleges and universities, but none would swim the Bearcats this season. However, with the added interest and with the promise of some of the colleges for contestants, more meets will be scheduled in the future.

Reilly, Barr, Coach, W. Smith, Lillibridge, Mgr., Dye, McAndrews, Capt.
J. Smith, De Vits, Benton, Gorab, Cheney.

Wrestling

MUCH credit is due to Coach Barr for his splendid effort and work in developing wrestling interest at Varsity. Altho the wrestlers lost their three meets, a better organized and a more confident team will be the result.

On January 24th, five men traveled to Bloomington with the coach, but the University of Indiana proved simply too strong for them, altho several of the matches were closely contested. The score was 19—0.

Then came two meets with Miami. At home Reilly won by falling his man and Benton won thru decision, but the rest of the luck seemed to be with the Red and White, and the score resulted in Miami's favor, 19—8.

At Oxford Benton was unable to make the trip, but Reilly won again which made the final count 20—5.

With the possession of a good coach, a more confident team, and with the loss of only one man, prospects for next year are better and brighter.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

HELEN N. SMITH
Director of Women's Athletics

TO those who have been watching closely, the past year has proved a revelation. To these people it has proved the worth-whileness of the policies started by the Women's Athletic Association, policies which have been doubted by those less trusting. The thought of doing away with "Varsity" teams was a blow to many, and many have misunderstood. For their sakes let me give a few facts. Two years ago in basketball we had a Varsity team playing ten games a year. There were an average of eight girls a day playing basketball. Last year the Varsity games were cut in half, and we had an average of forty girls playing. This year, there was no Varsity. We had first and second class teams, Sorority and Non-Sorority teams, and an average of one hundred girls actually playing. After the class games were over, an honorary team was picked to play against Pittsburgh and Antioch, and for three weeks, during which time they practiced, there was an average of twelve girls playing. It was rather a proof again of our beliefs. Next year let us double the number of girls participating, and keep in mind more than ever the motto of the W. A. A.

"ATHLETICS FOR ALL"

The W. A. A. has proved itself in this year. Its many activities provide scope for every girl in the University, athletics, swimming, dancing and Greek Games, and it is for every girl to carry on and be an active member.

Women's Athletic Association

THE Women's Athletic Association has been very successful this year. It has done a great deal in living up to its aim of "ATHLETICS FOR ALL" through the emphasis placed on Intra-mural sports. Class teams rather than Varsity teams have been emphasized, and honorary Varsity teams were chosen from the players on the class teams.

Two new organizations now under the auspices of the W. A. A. are the Rifle Club and the Dance Club. Greek Games chairmen are appointed by the Executive Committee of the Women's Athletic Association, rather than having the office that of the Vice-Presidents of the Freshman and Sophomore Classes.

Plaques were presented to the winners of the sorority basketball and baseball series, and letters were awarded at the banquet given in the spring.

The Association is affiliated with the Women's Division of the National Amateur Federation, and sends a delegate to these conventions.

Basketball

AN unbroken record of victories from the time when they were mere Frosh has crowned the efforts of the Class of 1925. Four of the six girls on the team have been on it every year. These girls are Olga Strashun, Virginia Lampe, Ditty Hayes and Marna Brady.

This year interclass competition was emphasized and two teams were chosen from each class. Both Senior teams were victorious. This new system brought out many more girls and the games were very exciting.

More interest was shown in sorority and non-sorority games as a result of the inter-class competition, and practically every sorority was entered in the tournament. The final game between Kappa Alpha Theta and Chi Omega was won by the Thetas, with a score of 30—26. The score was tie at the end of the third quarter and until the last few minutes of play when Theta took and held the lead.

An Honorary Varsity Team was chosen from the players in class games. This team was defeated by Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh, and by Antioch at Antioch, but won its final game with Antioch on its own floor. Some how this last game with its decisive score of 28—13 seemed to make up for the loss of the other two. With Sophie Moore and Skeet Henkle to cheer them on to victory the Bearkittens just couldn't lose.

The Basketball Tournament conducted by the W. A. A. was limited to teams within a radius of ten miles so that no team would have to play more than two games in one day. Norwood and Hughes clashed in the finals and Norwood came out victorious. Both teams were presented with cups and the girls on the winning team each received a bar pin. Altogether this season was a most successful one.

Baseball

Baseball was a huge success at Varsity this year. Class teams competed for first honors, and after the class games were over, there was much interest in sorority and non-sorority games. Each year more girls have become interested in the sport and this year a first and second team were chosen, the members of which received points for their All Round "C" sweater. The Woman's Athletic Association awarded to the winner of the sorority games, the baseball plaque, which last season was given to Kappa Alpha Theta. The sorority winning the cup three times may keep it and competition for the honor is extremely keen.

Swimming

Swimming is a major sport at U. C., and this year has been the most successful one yet. To start the year with a bang, and see what material there was, an individual swimming meet was staged. This was won by Judy Sale, with Mary Rowe Moore, second, and Marna Brady, third. Following this meet was an individual meet for beginners. It was decidedly an innovation and proved very successful. All members of the Varsity Squad were ruled out.

The Withrow-U. C. meet at Withrow High School was won by them. However, in the return meet at the University Pool, our girls beat Withrow for the first time they have ever been beaten by any team.

An interclass meet came next on April 23, and class spirit has increased in the swimming as well as every other sport.

On May 9, the Varsity Team met a team from Charleston, West Virginia, and proved their mettle.

To top the season a stunt swimming meet was staged and proved to be a howling success.

Under the direction of Miss Helen T. Coops, with the assistance of Mary Rowe Moore and Marna Brady, captain, the team has had a most successful year.

Greek Games

Greek Games of 1924 were dedicated to Poseidon, God of the Sea, and were contests in athletics, lyrics, costumes, and dance presented by the Classes of 1926 and 1927.

The Freshmen chose for their myth the story of Atys, the careless keeper of the sacred bees, who was doomed to journey to the cave of Melis, the monster, in order to restore the bees to the temple and save the city from destruction. After successfully passing the enticing sirens and wicked monsters, he accomplished his purpose and was greeted with wild acclaim by the waiting throng in the city.

The Sophomore entrance was in the form of a prologue to their myth, showing the labors of Poseidon on the walls of Troy as a punishment for aspiring to the kingdom of Jupiter. Later Poseidon, angered at having received no reward for his services, sent a monster to whom the most beautiful maiden in Troy was to be sacrificed each year. Poseidon moved by the beauty of this maiden returned her to her people who gratefully departed.

The Athletics were closely contested. The Sophomores won the hurdling and the torch race, while the Freshmen won the discus throw and the chariot race.

The chariot race was an innovation and proved to be the crowning glory of the games. The Sophomore chariot was rose and silver and the Freshman blue and silver. Both color schemes were very effective and one offset the other. The race was for form rather than speed, and victory both for the chariot and the games was awarded to the Class of 1927.

Peters, McCord, Elliott, Glascock, Wartik, Libser.

Girls' Rifle Club

THE Girls' Rifle Club was organized last year under the supervision of the R. O. T. C., with Lieutenant Roy Green as Range Officer. From this club a squad, and later a team, was chosen to represent the University in several matches. At the end of the season eight inter-collegiate matches were fired, six of which were won. The rifle team became a part of the Woman's Athletic Association, and shooting was recognized as a minor sport. Rifle letters were awarded to the following girls:

Gertrude Bucher
Olga Strashun
Dorothy Haller
Margaret Elliot
Hazel Baird

Hope Davis
Martha Pichel
Ruth Evers
Marian Peters
Viola Seibert

During the season 1924-25 the following Universities were fired against:

California Agricultural College
Cornell
Oregon
Kansas
South Dakota

Nebraska
Illinois
George Washington
Michigan

The team also participated in the Woman's Inter-collegiate Championship Match, which was held by the U. R. A., from February 28, to March 21, 1925. This year the successful team has been under the direction of Lieutenant Chester K. Harding, Range Officer.

Dance Club

THE Dance Club was organized in order that there might be an opportunity for those interested in Natural Dancing, music and costuming, to continue their dancing and do original work along these lines. To become a member, one must have had at least a year's experience in Natural Dancing, and then be successful at a try-out for new members, judged by Miss Helen N. Smith and a committee from The Dance Club.

This year a Dance recital was given in the Men's Gym, on April 2, which consisted entirely of Natural Rhythms and Dances. The program was divided into three sections, the first comprising the technique of the dancing; the second, child rhythms and original rhythms by members of the club; the third, complete dances and the pantomime of "Le Jouleur."

Men's Glee Club

SINCE the establishment of the Club in 1920, it has met with notable success. Much of this success is attributed to the splendid leadership of their director, Mr. Alvin J. King. The Club not only gives home concerts, but this year it has undertaken several out-of-town trips. These trips have served not only to increase the reputation of the Club, but also to afford a bit of social life for the members.

Woman's Glee Club

THE purpose of the Glee Club is first, to stimulate interest in choral work, and second, to promote interest for the establishment of similar Clubs in other schools where they do not exist.

Under the directorship of Mr. B. C. Tuthill, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, the Glee Club, for the first time this year, had contests with other colleges. A silver loving cup was awarded by Miss Bertha Bauer to the winner of the contest.

Melody Club

THE Melody Club of the School of Nursing and Health had its beginning in the Fall of 1924, when a project for the organization of a chorus or glee club was approved by the Committee on Student Activities. The first materialization of the plan was the taking over of the carolling in the hospital wards Christmas Eve. Miss Kline, of the College of Music, directed the program for the holidays. At the beginning of the year a permanent director, Mr. Glore, of the Conservatory of Music, was secured and regular practice inaugurated. The Melody Club has two objects: The fostering of musical interests and appreciation among the students and the production annually of a concert for the benefit of the Student Activity Fund.

University Band

THE University Band did much this year in creating more school spirit by playing at all athletic contests on the campus, and by even accompanying the team on some short trips. Uniforms for a fifty-piece Band were secured early in the year, and made their first appearance on Dedication Day. Under the able leadership of Sergeant Victor Norling, the Band expects to continue to merit the support of the student body in future years.

Mummers

THE Mummers is the drama club of the University. The purpose of the organization is the production of plays of a nature varied in kind and appeal. Each year members are chosen according to the histrionic ability shown by the applicants at a "Try-Out." The business is carried on by a duly elected board of directors chosen in the spring of each year.

The popularity and success which the organization presently enjoys are due largely to the efforts of Mr. Frank R. Byers, the director. Added to the real work connected with such productions, are many social times resulting in lasting friendships of "Back Stage."

The Musical Comedy Committee

THE Musical Comedy Committee is the executive council that manages the production of the annual comedy presented by the students of the University of Cincinnati.

The Committee each year associates with itself certain students of the University who are especially competent in the divergent phases of musical comedy production. These students combined with the Committee itself form a group of between fifteen and twenty persons, and are referred to as the Comedy Production Committee.

The Musical Comedy, "Now I Ask You," which was presented this year, was written by Miss Lillian Herschede. Under the direction of Mr. John Redhead Frome, the script for the comedy grew into a musical comedy of unusual sprightliness, combined with a real story of the modern girl's battle against love and marriage. Mr. Francois Vathe "turned out" a chorus that was the equal of most professional choruses and better than many. Mr. Bellstedt arranged and directed the music for the production in his customary way—just a little better than necessary.

The Musical Comedy Committee feels that an acknowledgment of the student co-operation and support of the production is both necessary and fitting; for without their support "the show would be a flop."

"The Queen"

THE mad throbbing wail of saxophones smote the stillness of the night as the beauty and chivalry of the University of Cincinnati gathered in all the splendour of its multi-colored gowns and sombre evening habiliments to celebrate the justly historic and tradition-vested promenade of the Junior Class. Never had the hoary halls of old McMicken, nestling midst the emerald hills of Cincinnati, beheld such charm, such grace, so many beautiful women, so many stalwart men. The dulcet tones of the orchestra, the refreshment comparable only to the nectar of the Gods, the hum of the joyous voices and the stentorian "May I cut," of the gate crasher, the "tout ensemble" of the Junior Prom!

Senior Hop

THE high and noble, the elan, the essence of superiority—that is the Senior Class, and they tried in a very successful manner to make the Hop equal to it. We can still hear the soft, pulsating music, the low murmur of happy voices, the dull thuds of colliding couples. The cleverness of the Junior Class was reflected in their corner, which won first place with ease, and which goes to show that art for art's sake is all right in its proper sphere, but not at the Senior Hop.

ONE of the most enjoyable dances was found at the Men's Gym, on November 28. SPECIAL OCCASION

The Stadium

IN the history of universities as well as in that of nations, there are times and events that are epochal. Sometimes these times and events are builded upon ideals; sometimes they are the result of the slow evolution of time and progress; at others they are born of labor, sacrifice and of tears. Such a time and such an event was the achievement by the University of Cincinnati of the James Gamble Nippert Memorial Stadium in the year of 1924-25, and of such stuff was it made.

Way back in 1885, when the place where old McMicken now stands was but an uncultivated part of Cincinnati's girdle of hills, and the University was housed in the old building on McMicken Avenue, now used, but soon to be abandoned, as the Law School, the institution entered the ranks of football. It had no field of its own on which to play, local fields being rented as occasion demanded. Ten years later, when the present McMicken Hall had been built in Burnet Woods, Dr. Arch I. Carson, then physical director of the University, proposed the construction of an athletic field on the campus. The idea of athletic fields and stadiums was of course not new—they were almost as old as education itself, heritages from those men who thought that the training of the body was as important as the training of the mind. But to Cincinnati, the Queen City of the West, the idea was comparatively novel.

Carson Field

Dr. Arch I. Carson

But ideals, when fashioned of concrete and steel, require money; and for the construction of an athletic field the sum of four thousand, six hundred and fifty dollars was needed. This sum, a large one for the time, of which Julius Fleischmann, then Mayor of Cincinnati, gave two thousand dollars, it took five years to raise. In 1901 the actual work began. It was not a pretentious field,—it consisted mainly of the bare ground, with tiers of seats laid out on the sides of conveniently located hills—but it was the beginning of that field and stadium of which the University is now justly proud.

In 1910 the field was formally named "Carson Field," in honor of the Dr. Carson who fathered it; and in that year the plans for the concrete stadium were made. The first nine sections of the concrete stands were financed by a city bond issue of 1916. Two sections were added in 1920 from war reclamation funds, and in 1921 three more were made possible by student subscriptions. Then for three years it seemed as though the completion of the stadium were an unattainable dream, for there were no more funds available.

Then occurred what was considered at the time but a minor incident in the great game of college athletics. One of the football players, Jimmie Nippert by name, received a scratch in the football game on Thanksgiving Day, 1923, while Cincinnati was having her time-honored struggle with her ancient enemy, Miami. What mattered a scratch, a twisted ankle, even a broken collar bone? It was all in the game!

One month later, on Christmas Day, Jimmy Nippert was gone, a victim of blood poisoning. His last words, now become famous in the annals of the University of Cincinnati, were, "Five more yards to go—then drop!"

Today these words are immemorably carved under the ten-foot figure symbolic of the struggle of football, that stands at the south end of the finished James Gamble Nippert Memorial Stadium, a perpetual participant in the games that will be played by Varsity long after we, our sons, and perhaps our grandsons have done our part on field and in classroom, and have departed.

James N. Gamble

Completed Stadium

In memory of his grandson, Mr. James N. Gamble offered the University two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to complete the unfinished stadium. Thus was made possible the completion of a dream of years, and on November 8, 1924, the stadium was dedicated.

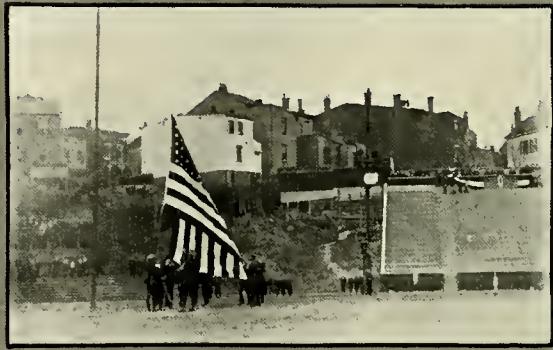

The James Gamble Nippert Memorial Stadium is one of the best of its size in the country. Its seating capacity is 15,000; it has the most modern of dressing rooms, showers, athletic offices, and a complete dispensary to take care of injured players. The sculpture is the work of Ernest Bruce Haswell, a Cincinnati artist; the architecture of Garber and Woodward, Cincinnati architects.

Let us be proud of our stadium; let us be worthy of it; but let us also always remember that it was born of ideals, of labor, of sacrifice, and of love.

DEDICATION DAY

Memorial Dormitory Dedication

Home Coming Day

THE second annual home coming, held immediately following graduation, firmly established it as a permanent feature of commencement week, and definitely founded a new tradition at the university in getting the graduates and their friends on the campus on one special day of the year. Through the efforts of the Alumnae Association, working in co-operation with the officials, faculty and students of the university, Home Coming is building up good will for Varsity.

Last year the principal feature of the celebration was the dedication of the Memorial Dormitory, the erection of which was made possible through the efforts of the graduates in honor of the alumni and students who served during the World War. Major William Hammond Parker, former professor of Social Science, and World War veteran, delivered the dedicatory address.

Following the dedication of the Memorial Dormitory the military drill and sham battle were waged under the direct supervision of Major Paul H. Herman, commandant of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University. During the afternoon and immediately following the military exhibition, various athletic games and contests were staged.

The celebration closed with an Inter-Fraternity Sing in the open behind the Woman's Building. Special credit for making this celebration a success is due to the student committees working in co-operation with the Alumnae Association.

Miss Dorothy Huff and Allison F. Stanley were general chairmen of the Central Committee, which organized the first Home Coming.

AGAIN the annual invasion of the Crimson and White. The entire student body was ready for it, and met it with the spirit and loyalty which old Varsity so justly deserves. At twelve o'clock almost the entire student body met in the Men's Gymnasium for the annual Thanksgiving Convocation. Inspired by the capable speakers, all were filled with the spirit of Thanksgiving, and the spirit of Jimmy was instilled in our hearts. At six o'clock in the evening the University Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Fred Hoehler, gave a barbecue, which all were invited to enjoy. With the excitement at a fever pitch, the gang removed to the Central Y. M. C. A., where the pajama parade had its source. The crowds gathered to watch the excellent showing of school spirit, traffic was blocked, and thundering cheers rang down the streets of Cincinnati. Then the wave receded, and the Cincinnati-Miami dance was on. May we say it was a darn good exhibition.

Little need be said about the outcome of the game. Suffice it to say, in the time-honored way, that the boys covered themselves with glory, taking the Big Red team into camp by the tune of 8—7. May this become an annual occurrence.

Oxford Debate

THE International Debate, held in Emory Auditorium, on October 13, 1924, between Oxford University, England, and The University of Cincinnati, was the most important forensic event in the history of old McMicken. The visit of the team of graduate students, representing the Oxford Debating Union, ranked with the dedication of Nippert Stadium, as one of the two outstanding events of the college year.

The Oxonians were headed by Malcolm J. MacDonald, of Queen's College, the son of Ramsay MacDonald, at that time the Labor Prime Minister of Great Britain. He was ably supported by M. C. Hollis, of Balliol College and J. D. Woodruff, of New College. The University of Cincinnati was represented by Robert G. McIntosh, L. A. '25, Joshua L. Liebman, L. A. '26, and Lawrence I. Levi, L. A. '28. President Hicks was the presiding officer.

The subject discussed was, "Resolved: that this house is opposed to the principle of Prohibition." The debate was interesting because of the thoroughness with which the Cincinnati speakers attacked the problem, and the brilliant wit of the English, who gave an excellent exhibition of the English method of informal discussion enlivened by humor and sparkling repartee. At the close of the argument, the audience voted 1,804 to 698 in favor of the The University of Cincinnati, which had upheld the negative of the proposition.

Contest Day

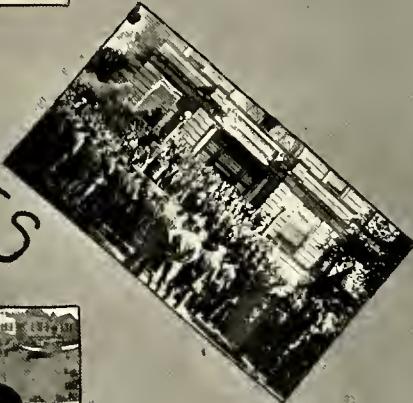

CAME the dawn of a new day. And with it comes the sight of two bed sheets, sewed together, flying from the top of the flag pole. On the sheets, dyed in deep green, is seen the motto: "Freshmen." The pole is greased, but the dauntless Sophs rise to the obstacle, and the rag comes down. The Frosh come back, however, and after a short tussle, the tattered emblem is again raised. As an interlude, the Frosh are victorious in football, the Sophs getting the long end of the soccer and tug o' war contests. Therefore, the rules are in force. Later, with the mad urge of the primitive roused in the breasts of both freshmen and sophomores, a free-for-all ensues, in which clothing and Sophs come out second best. But a good time was had by all, and ye ancient and traditional flag rush, so long dormant, again came into its own.

Tanners' Research Building

Tanners' Building Dedication

OUR beloved Alma Mater has been growing by leaps and bounds, and on November 19, 1924 an historic step was taken. On that day the new Leather Research Laboratory was formally presented by President Fraser M. Moffat, on behalf of the Tanners' Council of America, and was accepted by President F. C. Hicks for the University. After visiting many institutions to do the work the Council wanted done, the Committee selected the University of Cincinnati as the college having the broadest vision and the surest grasp of the relation between science and industry. The importance of the dedication may be further accented by the fact that a telegram was received from Secretary of Commerce Hoover, in which he praised the fact that such a momentous step was being taken, both for the advancement of industry and science.

The school is well aware of the honor which has been bestowed upon it, and it is our belief that the time has come when Old McMicken is recognized as one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the country, and as such its name will go down through posterity.

MILITARY

PAUL
GRAYMAN

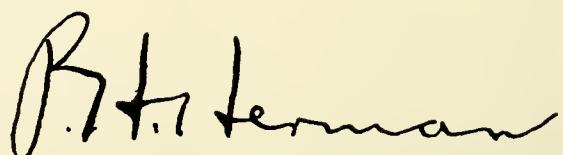

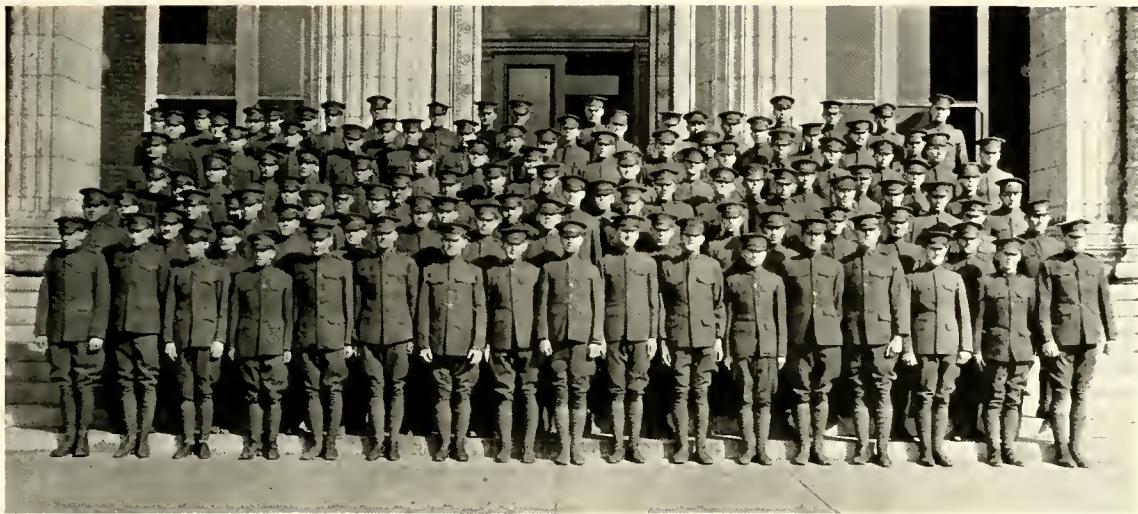

P. H. HERMAN
Major, Coast Artillery Corps, D. O. L.,
Professor of Military Science and Tactics

THE R. O. T. C. in this University has progressed in a phenomenal way since its establishment here four years ago.

This progress is attributable to the cooperation and encouragement which has at all times been given to the Military Department by the other departments and also by the students.

Progress, success and pleasant relations have made the tour of duty here a very desirable one, and a duty memories of which will be carried away, by those of us due to be relieved, to remain with us for a long, long time.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps

THE past year has been one of great success for the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University of Cincinnati under the direction of Major Paul H. Herman, C. A. C., and his associates. In the year 1919-20 the R. O. T. C. at the University became a fact by the establishment of the Coast Artillery and Engineer Units. Since then it has increased in popularity until the present year finds us represented by the Coast Artillery, Engineer and Ordnance Units.

The military policy of the United States has been changed since the World War so that the standing Army, which is very small in comparison to our vast territory and its large coastline, is only the first line of military defense. The second line of defense after the Regular Army consists of the National Guard, and the third the organized reserves. The organized reserves is just a skeleton organization composed mostly of commissioned officers, which, in time of emergency, would be filled in by the able-bodied citizenry.

The organized reserves, of which the R. O. T. C. is the training ground, comprises three armies, one from the western states, one from the central states and one from the eastern states. These armies are divided into corps and divisions which are commanded by officers of the Reserve Corps. Just as in other fields of endeavor the college trained man is fast replacing the untrained man in leadership of large enterprises, so, in military work the remaining vacancies in the Reserve Corps are being filled largely by college men supplied it by the R. O. T. C.

The preceding paragraph would possibly lead one to believe that the only purpose of the R. O. T. C. is to prepare commissioned officers for the service in times of emergency. This, however, is not altogether true, for the R. O. T. C. holds a very important place in the college life of those who are enlisted in its ranks. It broadens its members by supplying a common meeting ground of endeavor, keeps alive the spirit of patriotism and Americanism, teaches discipline and respect for authority, adds to the social activities of the college and gives the feeling of satisfaction which comes with knowing that our University is aiding in the perpetuation of the sovereignty of our free country.

Commissioned Officers—Regular Army Detachment

Major Paul Herman, C. A. C., who succeeded Major Sidney H. Guthrie upon his retirement, has carried on with great success the work entrusted to him. Major Herman has under him a staff of five commissioned officers of the Regular Army, Captain Porter P. Lowry, C. A. C., and Captain Clifford D. Hinkle, C. A. C., in charge of the Coast Artillery Unit; Captain James A. B. Gibson, Ordnance Department, in charge of the Ordnance Unit, First Lieutenant Chester K. Harding, Corps of the Engineers, and First Lieutenant James B. Hughes, Corps of Engineers, in charge of the Engineers Unit. First Lieutenant James Hughes came to the University this year from the Canal Zone. He is a graduate of the U. S. M. C. at West Point, class of 1918.

The R. O. T. C. Band, sponsored and equipped with instruments and uniforms by the R. O. T. C., furnishes the music for the Battallion formations and athletic contests staged at the University. This year's band has far surpassed any all-student band organized at the University thus far.

Enlisted Personnel—Regular Army Detachment

The popularity of the R. O. T. C. has been increasing steadily since its establishment after the World War. This fact is borne out by the increasingly large number of students registering for the optional advanced courses. In the year 1920-21 there were 16 men enrolled, the enrollment rose to 36 in 1921-22, to 101 in 1922-23, to 142 in 1923-24, and this year there are 209 students registered for the advanced courses in the three units here represented.

One of the major attractions on Alumnal Day was the sham battle staged by the R. O. T. C. The military ceremonies started in the afternoon with a parade and review, after which the battle proper took place. The Engineer unit started the program by building a bridge which was later used by the retreating side to cross an imaginary stream supported by heavy fire from two machine guns and a 75 mm field gun. The scene was made more realistic by the airplanes flying overhead and fired upon by the 75 mm. anti-aircraft gun. The bridge was later blown up with T. N. T. to prevent the pursuers from following, thus giving all the sensations of a real battle.

Cadet Officers Club—Section X

The R. O. T. C. Rifle Team has acquitted itself very well this year in exchange matches with other colleges and universities. Several of the colleges with whom matches were fired are as follows: Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Cornell, Oregon, Boston Tech., Minnesota, Michigan, Syracuse, New York University, Kentucky State Normal School, Ohio State and Indiana. The team won all of the above scheduled matches except those with Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Ohio State University.

Through the efforts of the military faculty it was arranged that a man selected from the R. O. T. C. by Major Herman should receive an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point. The man selected this year was Robert W. Ward, a freshman engineer. The appointment and the announcement of the pledges of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, were made at the annual Military Ball on February 28th.

Junior Advisors

THE Junior Advisors are a group of Junior girls organized under Women's League to give the Freshmen assistance in entering Varsity life. This year the system was completely reorganized. The Freshmen girls were divided into nine sections, with a Junior Advisor in charge of each. These groups met at 11:30 every Friday, in place of general convocation, with Faculty members to speak on various phases of University life.

Men's Vigilance Committee

THE Men's Vigilance Committee is composed of a committee of sophomore men under the direction of a Council of Six seniors. The purpose of the committee is to teach the incoming Freshmen the rules and traditions of the University, and to instill in them true college spirit—incidentally to keep the dust ofen the ol' hickory paddles that lie on th' shelf!

Woman's Vigilance Committee

THE Vigilance Committee is composed of those upper-class women who are deemed most capable of keeping the eagle eye on flippant freshwomen who stray from the straight and narrow path of Varsity virtue.

These Vigilancers, by enforcing the CO-Frosh Commandments and administering the big stick at the annual CO-Frosh Trial, turn out at the end of one year CO-Eds well trained in all College rules and traditions.

The University Y. M. C. A.

THE University Y. M. C. A. concerns itself with two phases of University life; first, the enrichment of the spiritual life of the individual students and the general spiritual atmosphere of the campus, and second, the promoting of better conditions of recreation, amusement, and the use of leisure time by the students.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet

THE Y. W. C. A. Cabinet is composed of representatives from the ten major committees of the organization, and directs the work of the local branch. This year this branch has succeeded in establishing co-operation between the local Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. This may be regarded as the biggest achievement of the year, because it has been set as the goal throughout the country.

Freshman Cabinet—Y. M. C. A.

AFRESHMAN Cabinet was organized this year to correlate each new student to the spiritual and social life of the University. The Cabinet seeks to introduce Freshmen to congenial acquaintances and to find a new church home for out of town students. Its functions parallel the activities of the Senior Cabinet, enlisting the services of Freshmen who, in after years, will develop into leaders in the Association.

DeMolay Club

THE DeMolay Club at the University of Cincinnati is a branch of the National DeMolay fraternity, which is a Junior Masonic order to which young men between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one are eligible. Upon reaching that age a member is automatically dropped from membership and becomes eligible to petition the regular Masonic Lodge.

The local organization fosters closer brotherhood among University men.

Out-of-Town Girls' Club

SIXTY girls, whose homes are outside of Cincinnati, came together last year to form an Out-of-Town Club. They meet every two weeks at supper meetings, and enjoy lively after-dinner "tete-a-tetes." The purpose of the Club is to give the out of town girls a better opportunity to become acquainted at the University. Prospective students are written to in advance, and met and welcomed by the Club members. Among the social functions of the Club, the "Gingham Party" stands out as the most memorable event of the year.

Fresh Painters

THE Fresh Painters Club is an honorary association, composed of persons who, for two years, have been casted in the annual Musical Comedy productions, or have held important positions on the business staff.

This year the Club celebrates the third anniversary of its founding at the University; and may be accredited with the production of three Musical Comedies, namely: "Fresh Paint," "Lemme Alone" and "Now I Ask You."

The purpose of the Club is the formation of a nucleus for future productions, the recognition and encouragement of Varsity talent and the promotion of a social spirit among its members.

Co-Ep Club

MEMBERSHIP in this Club is open to all students registered in the Applied Arts or Engineering Colleges. The primary purpose of the Club is to provide a social organization for the co-eps and the Club gives two social functions every year—a dance and a banquet. Similar Clubs have been established in every department of Applied Arts and Engineering Colleges this year, so the Co-Ep Club has been reorganized into an Executive Board composed of representatives from each Club.

Co-op Club

THIS organization was formerly the Student Council of the Engineering College. With the establishment of the Engineering Tribunal, the Club was transformed into a social organization with membership open to all students in the Engineering College. The annual Co-op Stag and the Co-op Dance are given under the auspices of the Club, and form the most important events of the social season in the Engineering College.

Varsity Art Club

THE purpose of the Varsity Art Club is to promote a keener appreciation along all lines of art. Supper meetings were conducted monthly, at which informal talks were given on various topics of art. A gift shoppe held before the holidays, and a costume dance given in February contributed toward making this season the most successful and profitable one that the Club has known.

Bird Club

THE Bird Club was organized in 1916 by those men and women who had taken the summer course in ornithology, given by Dr. H. M. Benedict, at the Ohio Military Institute. The Club aims to further the knowledge of bird life by field study and lectures on phases of bird life, which form parts of the regular program of the Club. The university organization is affiliated with the Audubon Society of Cincinnati.

French Club

THE French Club was organized at the University with a three-fold aim: To promote friendship among the students of the department, to increase their practical acquaintance with the language and to bring about a closer spirit of friendship among the club members and the faculty members. A number of the faculty members are honorary members in the organization, and act as advisors.

The outstanding event of the year is the French Club play, which is given under the direction of the faculty members.

Chemical and Metallurgical Engineers' Club

THE Chem-Met Club was founded in 1919 by the students of the chemical and metallurgical engineering departments. The organization is under faculty supervision, but the business is under student management. The Club affords means of bringing the students of the two departments in intimate contact with one another, and an opportunity to hear lectures by men who have attained high rank in the professional world.

Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma, the society of upper-classmen of the University of Cincinnati, was founded in 1898. Its purpose is to foster college spirit, and to enhance the glory of the University of Cincinnati in the college world. The members are chosen on their merits alone, and in disregard of race, creed or fraternity affiliation.

Dates given in the list of alumni denote the years in which members were initiated.

Ulex

OUT of the evanescent mists of the empyream, wafted on the billowy zephyrs, leaping the incomparable abyss to dash itself against the fairy softness, the icy kisses come lurching with each caress, loitering with the vagrant winds. "Ah ha! What hast thou there?" And incommunicably mournful sougued the answer, "Razberrahs." And so, limned against the incarnadined nebulae, we fade and are gone, austereley permeated with the myrrhy fragrance, aspiring ever, failing never. Such is our mission.

HUMOR

Spirits wander o'er the earth
(For proof of this see Conan Doyle)
After having shuffled off,
As Hamlet says, this mortal coil.
But we've an innovation rare;
'Tis this—twill close attention bear—
The spirits of some living authors
Being with ideas rife
Will, through the medium of this book,
Give the views on college life
Of Lardner, Ben Hecht, E. M. Hull
And D. O. Stewart; 'twill not be dull.

The Rescue.

By

and
E.M. Hull

Hans Zum's blood-shot eyes swept over the sodden field. He was spent and panting for breath. Was all this struggle useless? Would she come to him in this, her hour of greatest need? She was moving now, but was it to him? Ah! She was moving toward him, but would she pass him by? It was now or never. Ah! She was turning in his direction. With a final wild leap she settled snugly into his embracing arms. With a hasty prayer for strength, he crushed her tightly against his breast. She had chosen him, him above all others. "Oh God," thought Hans Zum, "let me protect her and love her!"

But now was no time for tender thoughts; he must carry her to safety. He took one last, long look at her as she lay surrendered in his arms. None of the beauty of her symmetrical form was lost on him. She was his—his by choice—she was given to him—let anyone try to take her from him. His great love brought fire and determination to his face as he turned to face her pursuers. The odds were overwhelming, and, unlike fiction heroes, he used his head and feet. Shrugging off the villains who were even now laying hands on him as a dog shakes off water, Hans sped forward like a rock from a catapult. Safety was in sight—could he but make the goal his cherished darling would never again feel the blighting touch of desecrating hands. But the haven was not yet won, for directly in his path stood a foe. Hans lowered his head, remembered the words his old football coach had instilled in him, and with a mighty straight arm, shoved the villain aside.

She was safe. Hans felt her in his arms! A strange feeling of exaltation surged over him. The realization came to him that he had conquered all enemies by the power of his brute strength. He gloried in it! All this passed through his mind in the space of a few seconds. Unconsciously he tightened his already crushing grip. She did not cry out or even moan? With a long weary sigh, she went limp. Hans had crushed the very air of life from her.

He stopped short and looked down at her. What had he done? Good God! Had he struggled to carry her away from foes only to ruin her with a bestial display of strength! It all meant nothing. He was a destroyer not a conqueror! Perhaps, though, the gods who referee in this game of life would understand—perhaps just perhaps—he might still win. At any rate, captain Hans Zum laid the deflated football between the goal posts.

CAMPUS LIFE

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI

MEMORIAL DORMITORY

Dere Ed,

I aint writ to you before, Ed, becoz I been too busy, not becoz I aint been thinkin' about you no more. Since the old man made his wad in oil, and since I come to this swell collidge, I been thinkin' about you and the old home burg, as things here is different than there, so I'll try to give you the low down on this hear collidge life what we hear about so much. The first thing that a feller wants to know about collidge is frats. Now they is a kinda organization for mostly social things—I miss the ice cream social awful bad. There's a lot of these here frats so I'd best give you a short Ray Sume May—that's sumthin' I learnt already in collidge—what a Ray Sume May is.

The best frat here is the Baita Fishworm. (I decided to accept their bid when I get it.) They're a bunch of nice fellows and they aint any ways near like their name—lowly, etc. In fact, they knows themselves that they're supereor above the common herd. They ain't conceited—they just got a good opinion of themselves. Only thing is, it does take an early bird to catch these here Worms—when they come canned they usually pull in around 3 A. M. in the morning.

Then there's the Lambda Cow Alfalfas. They're all right I guess. My roommate is a wise guy and he calls 'em non metropolitan. I don't know what he means but I reckon it's kinda like non professional—not exacly amacher—jes rich enuf as is. He tells me a story about 'em which he says is funny. Seems as tho these Lambda Cows, they was out on a golflynx and a fire enjun come clangin' by. They all drops their clubs and runs to the back of the clubhouse and lines up along the waterin' trawf. It was only when they reaches behind the door for the towel that they come to and realized that it wasn't the supper bell which rung.

The Sig Alfner Eurekas is a nice bunch too. Some things I don't understand about them. Ferinstance why they love to play Hallereen pranks in Norwood, like——well, any how—

I don't understand it. I hear they is all trainin' to be diplomats. All they do is sign little scraps of paper that don't mean nothin'. Its a kinda game they make out of it. They sign these little slips called block—or checks I fergit which—and give them away. If they get them back with "No funds" on them means they win and someone else loses. In time tho they calculate to have a little dove cote all their own. May be I'll join them insted of the Baita Fishworms.

get and I don't like golf so that leaves only the Sig Mc Eyes for a temptation. Reckon its the straight and narrow for me? They tell a good story on them Scotch laddies. Seems as tho the part of the nisheaton is always done with paddles but these Scotch penny squeezers use vacuum cleaners instead of paddles.

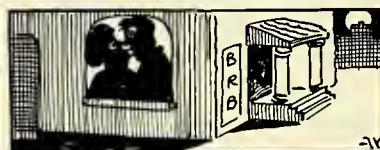

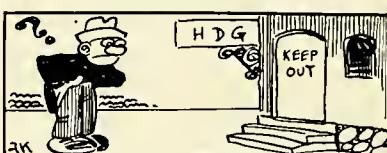

I mighta joined the Pie Kapsa Meal but gave it up when I found out that they was a weight requirement of 250 lbs. Seems like they get it all in the neck which makes em heavy—well, I reckon it's from the neck up.

The Beltah Rah Beltah is a rough neck society what is engaged in pugilistic activities and legislature. Both games aint played in the parlor but they do play parlor tricks too sometimes when the fuse is burned out. They founded an Anti Klan mov't for using Belts instead of horse whips. They're tougher and last anywhere from 1 semester to 8 yrs.

High-Delts-and-Daters has a chapter here too but nobody don't no much about them. They aint exactly snooty—only they don't seem to get acquainted fast. Its said that their "cans" can't be trusted far from home where they seem to stick pretty close.

The baby frat on the campus was bit by the card index bug so is called A. T. Pink. I aint never been to any of their parties but I here they don't live up to their name, which is just as well, or else other wise.

Well Ed, my swans' down and out is calling me. Olive Oil,

Can.

Kampus Eti Ket

BY D. O. STEWART

A Word of Warning to the Readers

This is not a history of one of those campus organizations which only a descendant of Mr. Pullman could have named. Just as the mosquito is the answer to "the maiden's prayer at twilight," just so is this the response to the long-felt need for an etiquette book to guide all college students through "Kampus Kutups," as the dear young things are wont to call college social affairs. It will be necessary for the readers who wish to glean a helpful knowledge from these pages to discard all previous social teachings they may have had, for college social customs are distinctly unlike those of the rest of the world. For example, even the most cultured and well-bred student would search in vain for the correct form to use in answering an invitation such as the following:

"You are requested to call at the dean's office as soon as possible."

Would it be correct to go immediately without replying or would a more favorable impression be made by returning the invitation with "Accepted" written across it? Should belongs be collected and locker keys turned in before or after making such a call? Such questions arise daily, and the answers may be found in "Kampus Eti Ket."

Dating

Dating is one of the oldest social customs known in collegiate life. It probably originated in the Garden of Eden, when Adam said to Eve, "Got anything on, Kid?" and she replied, "Not a fig." Whereupon he gave her a date. The custom has changed a little since then, for now the female nominally gives the male the date, although any college man can tell you it is nominally only. Dating has enjoyed quite a vogue, and is now one of the popular indoor sports. Although devotees of this ancient game maintain that as long as Burnet Woods remains there is no need for its degenerating into a mere parlor pastime, it is, nevertheless, the parlor variety of dating which attains the greatest popularity.

It is not to be supposed that parlor dating is confined to the parlor. By no means! Arrived at the home of a popular co-ed, the youth is seated in the parlor with Mom and Pop and Willie. Sis finally appears just as the youth is considering whether it would be more proper, according to the rules of the beau monde, to gag Willie or to merely choke him. The family leaves and the youth settles himself on the overstuffed lounge next to Sis for a nice, quiet evening. Sis lets loose an ohm or two of pep and gurgles, "Where we goin'?" The youth mutters, "Why, I don't know," and comes to an hour later on some dance floor. The evening passes, even as Pippa must, and it is time to go home. It is now that the young man must bring his ingenuity into play, if he would display a proper knowledge of savoir faire (correct form). It is distinctly au fait (correct form) for the following dialogue to ensue:

He: Lovely night (morning)!

She: Perfectly gorgeous moon (stars, clouds)!

He: Nice view from—————! (Here substitute the name of the most convenient park.)

She: I love woods (water, trees) at night!

He: Let's drive up there.

She: Oh, I must hurry home.

He: It'll only take a sec.

She: Well—————!

I need add no further admonitions for by now the young gentleman (lady) is in the spirit of the game and the finer points follow as a matter-of-course.

Dances

Dancing has become the most popular social diversion for college students. The customs surrounding this fascinating art are so complicated that I shall attempt only a few fundamental pointers. The greatest possible asset for the college man or woman, wishing to engage in "mixed" dancing, is the ability to dance. A "line," whose intensity should vary, according to the dancing ability, is another requisite. A really good dancer need have only a meager "line." For example, "Perfectly (simply) wonderful (marvellous)" often suffices.

There are all kinds and varieties of college dances, all alike in one respect——they are all held on the campus. Varied surmises have arisen as to the origin of this custom. It probably dates back to when a playful young Prexy offered to escort a kittenish Dean of Women home. The Dean's grandma severely reprimanded them when they blew in at five A. M. with only three flat tires and one detour for an excuse. Anyhow, all dances are now held on the campus. The young man or woman who is "particular" and "hard to please" may "pick" (select) from a variety ranging from the frigidly formal Junior Prom through the Military Ball where spurs and orthopedic shoes mingle. A most important thing is selecting a partner. About three or four weeks before a dance of any description, a young woman should select several eligible partners. (N. B.: Any one not lame, halt or blind is eligible.) And shall proceed to speak to them in the halls and on all other occasions. If the young woman is possessed of real social aplomb (wisdom), she will arrange occasions for a few words on the weather or college work. This bit of the personal touch may lead to anything. Frequently it does——to suicide. And, girls, don't forget that if worse to worst there is always the blind date. Men need no warning——they never forget.

Poor Fishes

Silly little fishes
Swimmin' in the sea
You're not so silly
As you sometimes seem to be—
Poor Fishes!

You fishes have heads
But not for use
When you get the hook
There's some excuse—
Poor Fishes!

Silly little chappies
Over at U. C.
You're just as silly
As the fishes, seems to me—

"In Cincinnati Since 1860"
a slogan that means something

THE same year that Lincoln ran for President, Strietmann's was founded. Sixty-five years of baking practice and study are behind Strietmann's cookie-cakes and crackers, sold today in more than 5,000 selected groceries in seven states.

A Model Bakery in every detail, equipped with specially designed machinery, applying the most advanced manufacturing methods, insisting on strict cleanliness and order in all departments, and using the best of flour, sugar, butter, eggs, nuts, spices, fruits and flavors, enables Strietmann's to produce products of unsurpassed quality.

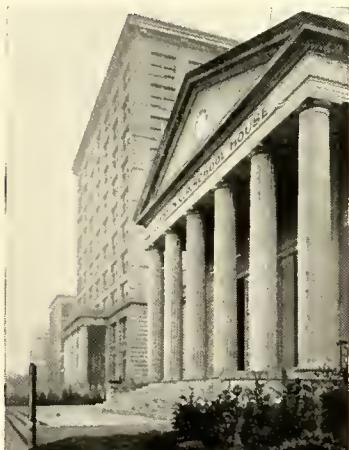

To insure your getting this superior goodness in the cookie-cakes and crackers you buy, ask for Strietmann's. Freshness is an outstanding quality of Strietmann's products, and this alone makes it worth the trouble of insisting on Strietmann's.

Education in Industry

THE Schoolhouse of The National Cash Register Company is an outstanding example of the dominant position that education has taken in industry.

Thirty years ago this company realized that its growth and progress depended largely upon the attitude of its employees toward their work. As a result, free night schools and many forms of welfare work were begun.

Welfare work and the facilities for educating employees are only a part of the many things that make a visit to our factory an interesting one. You are cordially invited to visit us.

The Telephone Industry

ABIG and interesting world awaits the conquest of every graduate. Both the technical and human requirements of business are now vastly more complicated—and, therefore, more interesting—than they ever were before in the world's history. That is why business is steadily drawing to it the best brains, why the talent that formerly went into statecraft and politics now finds satisfaction in business and industry.

No example of modern business is more developed than the telephone industry. It employs more than 200,000 persons—thousands of whom are college graduates working in its scientific departments. An equal number of those who have won degrees find profitable and interesting employment in its business departments. These people have made the American Telephone System the greatest in the world.

Strychnine! A beautiful lass was she,
With teeth like pearls and hair of gold.
Strychnine! A beautiful lass was she,
But, alas for me—she turned me cold.

Biddie—I suppose you've been in the navy so long that you are accustomed to sea legs.
Middie—Why lady, I wasn't even lookin'.

He—You sure do conceal your whereabouts when you go out.
She—No I don't. I leave them at home so the sisters can wear them.

Dad—You'll never visit us again, my boy.
Boy—Why do you say that? Of course I'll come again.
Dad—I'm afraid not.
Boy—Why not?
Dad—How can you, if you never leave?

WORMS THAT CAN'T TURN

Joining Two Million Alumnae

You young women who are graduating with the Class of 1925 will soon be modern members of a modern society. On some future day when you take charge of a home, you will adopt present day methods of housekeeping. And, like more than 2,000,000 other American women, you will find that one of the greatest of modern household helps is the laundry.

Laundry service is careful, economical and reliable. It saves you many priceless hours—frees you from the work and worry of home washing. It gives you greater opportunity to take the part in society for which your training has fitted you.

We extend our most cordial wishes to the Class of 1925. And we feel certain that you will join the 2,000,000 alumnae of American women who have graduated from old-fashioned, antiquated methods of having the weekly wash done in the home.

The Year 1925 is a noteworthy one for the Stuart Walker Company, for it has proved the success of an undertaking that a year ago was problematical, and three years ago was decidedly a gamble. Stuart Walker, a native of Cincinnati and a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, believed that the people of his home town would appreciate and would lend their support to a presentation of worthwhile drama by capable and polished actors. The risk wasn't so great, however, for after all, Mr. Walker knew Cincinnati and Cincinnatians, and the wonderful and enthusiastic support and patronage that his company is enjoying here this season more than justifies any risks incurred by Mr. Walker in giving to Cincinnati a season of repertoire that more than compares with the theatrical season that New York enjoys during the winter. From its obscure position three years ago the Stuart Walker Company has come to be recognized as one of the most important factors in the dramatic, social, artistic and civil life of Cincinnati.

The leading members of the Stuart Walker Company are almost without exception actors with authentic New York reputations, and most of them have been with the company for many seasons. The spirit of their acting is very rare in the English-speaking theatre, because few English-speaking companies play together for any length of time. To achieve a good musical ensemble in a symphony orchestra it is necessary for the players to be together for many seasons. The same is true of a theatrical company, which fact has been proved by the Russian Art Theatre Company in New York. The members of the Stuart Walker Company play well together because they have been together for many seasons.

The plays for this season are among the big successes of the past seasons in New York and London. Many of them are new to Cincinnati and several of them will be played for the first time on any stage. In addition the company hopes to present several spectacular plays, one or two of the big plays of the English theatre, and some special matinees of plays for children.

Ken.—“Little girl, I'll give you a pretty pin if you'll leave the room and let your sister and me alone.”

Edith.—“I don't want a pin.”

Ken.—“Well, what do you want?”

Edith.—“I wanna watch!”

The orchestra played rapturously. Two hundred couples swayed, now here, now there, in graceful rhythm — Suddenly the music stopped! More! More! Cried 199—the other one was dancing with THE chaperone.

An Irishman boarded a street car one day with his hands extended in front of him about 12 inches apart.

The conductor asked him for his fare.

Pat said, “take it out of me pocket.”

“Are you crippled?”

“No, me wife sent me for a pair of shoes and this is the size.”

A Little Advice to the Graduate

Oh, I'm a collector of ancient antiques
Of spear heads and swords and old eggs,
Of everything aged beneath the bright sun
Pie from the Commons, a rusty old gun,
Or strange beer containers called kegs.

But I'm not satisfied with the truck that I've got
And I yearn for some things I can't get,
And I've traveled and hunted all over the land,
And I've never on anything like 'em laid hand,
Though I've searched from Iceland to Tibet.

Oh, I sigh for the leaf that fair Eve used to wear,
And the club with which Cain once killed Abel.
The rod with which Moses struck on the rock,
The harp of Old David, a bottle of Bock,
Or a piece of the first ocean cable.

Oh! I'd like to lay eye on the sword of Richard
The one whom the English call "First,"
The shield of Sir Launcelot, shining and bright,
The crown of King Arthur, Ben Franklin's first kite,
The booze with which gods quenched their thirst.

There's a thousand and one things I doubt if I'll find,
Which I've heard of in poem and story,
If you happen to see 'em, just drop me a line,
And I'll give you ten bucks and a bottle of wine,
And all of the praise and the glory.

—Well, sir, whaddya know?

C. F.—Nothing.

And Diogenes blew out his lantern
and went to bed.

Artists and poets have inspiration.
The rest of us must always be thinking up new excuses.

She—Why did we come out here?
D. D.—To look at the moon.
She—Then let's go back and dance.

If you see a girl crying now it may be a soft heart or an advertisement for face powder.

That's All!

Dr. Beckle—Where are you going with those bacteria?
Frosh—To Math.—don't they multiply rapidly?

Just when we think we can make both ends meet—some boob moves the ends.

Sheriff—The prisoner put up a very game fight, your honor.
Judge—He ought to. He has the courage of five convictions.

Ken.—I want some medicine to reduce flesh.

Man.—Anti-fat?

Ken.—No, it's mother!

Marg.—Why did that man call a foul on Clarky?

Dud.—For holding.

Marg.—Now isn't that just like Clarky!

SQUIRRELY

C. P.—You are charged with shooting squirrels out of season.

Dick—Self-defense.

Dotty—Why do you go out with Freddy, he's a bad egg?

Betty—I'm afraid to drop him.

Chi O.—The ancient Greeks often committed suicide.

A. T. O.—Them was the days. You can only do it once now.

When a girl can read you like a book she'll put you on the shelf.

Bud—I say, I wish you wouldn't call me Mr. Jervis.

S—Oh, but I've only known you for such a little time; but (sweetly) why don't you wish me to call you Mr. Jervis?

Bud—Oh my name's Franklin, that's all.

THE SAME OLD ABSENT-MINDED PROFESSOR

Yes, he kissed the burglar goodnight and then shot his wife.

Limb of the Law—Yer pinched for speeding!
Sweet Young Thing—Why, Officer, you can't arrest me. This is Bill's car and I have Mabel's license.

Diogenes climbed in his tub and settled himself for the night.
"How come you chose such a queer place to spend the night?" asked his friends.
"I acquired that habit when I was a freshman at the Beta House."

Bud—How I love these cold winter nights!
She—Oh, don't you do it in the spring, too?

Stude—I'm flat, I couldn't buy shoes for a goldfish.

Studer—That's nothin'. I couldn't buy a supper for a nightmare.

Beta—Hey simp, what do you mean by washing the forks in the finger bowl?

S. A. E.—Think I want to get egg all over my pockets?

"I'm cutting quite a figure," said the chorus girl as she sat on the broken pop bottle.

Meow—Gee, you look funny in that dress.

Deer—Whatsa matter with it?

Meow—Oh, nothing.

She (after a kiss)—Jack, you forget yourself.

Jack (nobly)—That's all right, I can think of myself any old time.

Just because a girl has a well calculated line is no sign she's a grafter.

Editor—Had any experience?
Applicant—I got ten dollars a word once.
Editor—What for?
Applicant—Well, the judge fined me thirty dollars.

FAIR ENOUGH.

Although we love no more, Jeanette,
Life still seems fair to you,
You look on roses that are wet
With drops of argent dew,
And though we love no more, Jeanette
They have no dimmer hue.

Although we love no more, Jeanette,
Your heart is glad and free,
And in your face is no regret
Or pain that I can see.
And though we love no more, Jeanette
The same applies to me.

"Darling," he cried, in tender tones,
"I ne'er have loved but thee."
"Then we must part," the maiden
said;
"No amateurs for me."

THE CHATTERER.

never giving you the benefit of the breaks. She is sure to inform that portion of the world nearest of her presence.

THE WELL-DRESSED MAN

Many changes in evening wear are forecast by the present style season. Pajamas will be in quiet matin tones of mauve, pink, black and catalpa green, often with an arresting crimson stripe or in a green checkerboard effect. They will be made of burlap. Unmentionables will be in sackcloth and flannels, with the flowing sailor effect to the pawnts. Morning styles also have advanced. The tuxedo is worn to parties breaking up before three with a high wing collar and a white string tie or a parti-colored bow. Purple sox are considered very hot. For the more formal breakfast affairs the full evening dress is adopted with black and red bow ties, a green cap, tan shoes, and white hose. Any worn-out work garments, such as leather or canvas breeches, an old sweater, a wool shirt saved from the war at no cost, an overcoat, or what have you? constitutes smart school attire.
